MARYLAND GAZETTE,

Containing the freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

WEDNESDAY, November 2, 1748.

HAMBURGH, July 19.

A Reſolution, 'tis ſaid, has been taken at Berlin, immediately to march a body of between 30 and 40,000 men into Silesia. Our advices alſo add, that his Pruſſian majeſty is augmenting his troops with fifteen new regiments, of which ten are already compleatly form'd, by drawing five men per company from all the old corps; and that orders are given for raiſing the five others, which are to conſiſt of 1000 men each, and will be compleated by Michaelmas. By this augmentation, we are told, the Pruſſian army will amount to 163000 effective men.

According to our advices from Warſaw, the Ruſſian miniſter has made known to the court his miſtreſs's laſt demand, in relation to the giving up of count de la Salle; at the ſame time intimating the great ſurprize it would occaſion, in caſe the many kind and perſuaſive intreaties ſhe had made uſe of ſhould prove ineffectual, when it was ſo notorious ſhe had the law of nature and of nations on her ſide.

Paris, July 15. Two extraordinary couriers arrived this week from Stockholm and Berlin, and continued their route with the utmoſt diligence to Compeigne; but not a ſyllable of their diſpatches has tranſpired. 'Tis ſaid the court has ſent orders to count de St. Severin, to complain of the advancement of the Ruſſian troops to the Moſelle, and of the empreſs queen's continuing to ſend recruits to her army in Italy. From this conduct of the Allies it has been determined, that the armies, as well in Flanders as Italy, ſhall not ſeparate, or any officers or ſoldiers be diſcharged, 'til the concluſion of the peace. We are however told, that the articles of treaty between France and England are entirely adjuſted: The approaching departure of the young Pretender appears a good omen in that reſpect, who, 'tis ſaid has choſen Switzerland for his retreat rather than Rome, and fixed on Fribourg for the place of his reſidence; to which the cantons have already conſented, the king having recommended this new gueſt to them by letter under his own hand.

Savona, July 2. The deſerters who come from Genoa inform us, that notwithſtanding the armiſtice, ſeveral meaſures are taken there, as if the war was in full force; and that they continue to augment the intrenchments and fortifications round that city. They likewiſe report, that magazines are forming all over the republic, and that French ſhips arrive daily at Genoa, with troops, ſtores, or proviſions.

Paris, July 18. An expreſs is arrived at Verſailles from Stockholm, with important diſpatches, intimating among other things, that the men of war and frigates built in Sweden on account of the king, will be ready to put to ſea in two or three months, and will ſail as they ſhall be deſtin'd.

Hague, July 12. In Frieſland the confuſion and diſorders are greater than ever, inſomuch that the deputies to the ſtates from the quarters of Oſtergow, had thoughts of reſigning their commiſſions; but the prince of Orange being apprized of their intention, has ſent to them to deſire that they would by no means take this ſtep, as it might be productive of the worſt conſequences.

July 16. General Graveſtein is come back from Frieſland, without having been able to do any thing towards ſettling the diſorders in that province. It is thought that the prince ſtadeholder will ſoon ſend a deputation thither. The ſtates of Holland have been deliberating ever ſince Friday laſt, on the ways and means for making good the deficiency occaſioned in their revenue by the abolition of the impoſts. The ſkippers and populace at Tergau, pretending that by the abolition of the impoſts in this province, they are to be exempted from contributing any thing at all to the revenue, have refuſed to pay the paſſage money, the tolls for opening the ſluices, and other duties to which all veſſels are ſubject; it has been found neceſſary to ſend a detachment of the guards, to curb their inſolence and bring them to reaſon. Notwithſtanding the declaration of the council of Guelderland, that they would continue their taxes upon the old footing, the people are again in motion every where in that province, and refuſe to pay all manner of taxes or duties, even thoſe levied for the maintenance of the dykes, and for other public uſes of the province. In Overyſſel, the ſtates have been obliged to ſuppreſs all the farms, to quiet the uneaſineſs of the people; on the other hand, the Hanckes, or people who come yearly out of Germany and other parts, to make hay and work at harveſt, have aſſembled in great bodies, and committed ſeveral diſorders in that province.

Hague, July 26. The ſtates of Guelderland ſeparated a few days ago; but before they broke up, they reſolved to continue the impoſts and farms upon the old footing; promiſing however at the ſame time, to give the people all poſſible ſatisfaction as to the grievance complained of: but the mob was not to be ſatisfied with this declaration; they ſtill perſiſt in demanding to be exempted from all manner of taxes, and have aſſembled in a tumultuous manner in ſeveral parts of the province, where they have committed great diſorder. There have been alſo of late ſome diſturbances in North Holland, on account of the tythes; from which the country people thought they were likewiſe to be freed; but upon the advancement of ſome regular troops, every thing ſeems to be pretty quiet there again. General de Aylva is appointed by the prince of Orange, to put in execution the plan relating to the incorporation of thirty of the regiments that are priſoners of war in France.

Extract of a Letter from Metzer, dated July 20.

"We have diverſe accounts from the province of Groningen, that a new ferment has ariſen there, after that was allay'd which aroſe from the abuſes in the receipt of the farms. This latter is of a quite different kind, and may be the more dangerous, as the better ſort of burghers are concerned in it. They demand that juſtice ſhould be diſpenſed in another manner, and that ſuits ſhall be terminated within a year, and that no public employments ſhall be given to the domeſtics of magiſtrates, nor to perſons incapable thro' age, ſex, or want of capacity. They require alſo to have the catholic religion totally extirpated; and we are aſſured, that upon this laſt article they have already had recourſe to violence, and plunder'd ſome catholic churches."

Bonn, July 29. The emperor and the maritime powers have demanded of his electoral highneſs of Cologne a paſſage through his territories for the Ruſſian troops, which are to march into the Low Countries.

Aix la Chapelle, July 28. The marquiſſes of Soto Major and Doria, plenipotentiaries of Spain and Genoa, having received the ratification of their reſpective courts to their acceſſion to the preliminaries, the exchange of them has been made with the plenipotentiaries of France, Great Britain, and the States General. It is the opinion of many, that whilſt the public waits to hear of the entire evacuation of the conquer'd provinces, it will be agreeably ſurprized with the news that a definitive treaty is actually ſigned. Certain it is, that ſince the exchange of the ratifications, the miniſters have been continually in motion, and every thing ſeems to appear with a moſt favourable aſpect.

Hague, Auguſt 2. The States General have reſolved to ſettle the ſucceſſion to the dignities of captain and admiral general of the union upon the male and female iſſue of the prince of Orange; and a ſolemn deputation is to be appointed to wait upon his highneſs with their diploma.

Paris, July 26. An eſſay has been made of a gold mine lately diſcovered in the neighbourhood of Pontoiſe, which has proved valuable enough to engage the attention of the government ſo far, as to grant to certain undertakers an excluſive right of working the ſame; and upwards of 200 workmen are already employed.

Hague, Auguſt 2. An expreſs has been ſent to Cadiz, for the regiſter ſhip La Reine to ſail immediately with orders to

M. Reg-

M. Reggio, at the Havanna, to return to Europe with his ſquadron, and to bring the treaſure on board it, as ſoon as the ceſſation of hoſtilities ſhall take place. The ſame ſhip will alſo carry the like orders to the ſhips at La Vera Cruz, Lima, and Carthagena, as well as to the other places in the Indies.

LONDON.

July 23. The faction of the queen dowager in Spain, ſeems not only to revive, but to gather ſtrength; and if we may truſt the laſt letters from Madrid, the pretence of her going to ſpend the remainder of her days at Parma, was a mere artifice, in order to diſcover the number and ſtrength of her party; for immediately after her throwing out an Intimation of this kind, many of the grandees reſorted to her, and labour'd very aſſiduouſly to diſſuade her from a reſolution which ſhe had never taken. It is however certain, that ſhe will ſpeedily quit the royal palace where ſhe reſides at preſent, in order to go to one of the cities that have been offered her; and it is believed that ſhe will fix upon Saragoſſa, and will live there in the utmoſt ſplendour.

July 28. They write from Paris, that from the diſpoſitions made for ſending great reinforcements and prodigious ſupplies as well of military and naval ſtores, as of proviſions, to the Eaſt and Weſt Indies, the meaſures taken to revive and reſtore the marine, and the new regulations with regard to the diſbanded militia, they ſuſpect the court has no very high opinion of the continuance of the approaching peace; notwithſtanding their having cauſed a perſon to be carried off from Liege, and committed to the Baſtile, for writing a pamphlet, in which the moderation of France in concluding the preliminaries is very copiouſly expatiated on. But it ſeems this is ſo delicate a ſubject, that ſilence thereupon is more agreeable to the miniſtry than the beſt written panegerics, which very frequently diſcover accidentally, what they were penned on purpoſe to conceal.

July 30. According to three letters from Stockholm, there is a great fermentation there, and the chiefs of a certain party meet almoſt every evening. It is believed, that a very important event in that kingdom will very ſoon happen.

Auguſt 2. According to letters from Bergen-op-zoom of the 5th of Auguſt, N. S. they had 1700 ſick ſoldiers in the hoſpital of that town; 400 of whom they have ſent to Antwerp by the waggons that brought them the laſt ſupply of proviſions and warlike ſtores. Theſe letters add, that the Garriſon of that place was to be relieved in a few Days by a body of 4000 freſh troops; though it is ſtill given out that the French will ſpeedily evacuate the conquered towns.

Auguſt 6. We learn from Amſterdam, that the townſmen have actually begun to form new pretenſions, ſuch as that the magiſtrates ſhall no longer interfere with the military government; that the directors of the Eaſt and Weſt India company ſhall be excluded from the magiſtracy; that the exciſe, and all other impoſts, ſhall be perpetually aboliſhed; that the other taxes upon houſes, and by way of capitation, ſhall likewiſe ceaſe; that the poſt-houſe and the gazettes ſhall be reſtored to them; that the money ariſing from both may be applied to the contingent of the city: and that all employments be ſold for the future, excepting thoſe belonging to the militia, for the public benefit. They farther declare, that theſe, and other propoſitions they have to make, are for the general good, and not from any particular views: that they do not deſire to obtain them by riots, but deſire that all who diſturb the public peace, or can be proved to have betrayed the public intereſts, may be puniſhed according to their deſerts.

Advices from Paris ſay, that the French will evacuate Dutch Flanders, Bergen op zoom, and Maeſtricht, ſooner than was expected, in order to curry favour with the republic.

William York, a boy of ten years old, was commited to Ipſwich goal for the murder of Suſan Mayhew, a child about five who was his bed-fellow in the poor-houſe belonging to the pariſh of Eyke. He confeſſed that a trifling quarrel happening between them on the 13th about ten in the morning, he ſtruck her with his open hand, and made her cry: That ſhe going out of the houſe to the dung-hill oppoſite to the door, he followed her with a hook in his hand with an intent to kill her; but before he came up to her he ſet down the hook, and went into the houſe for a knife; he then came out again, took hold of the girl's left hand, and cut her wriſt all round and to the bone with his knife; and then threw her down, and cut her to the bone juſt above the elbow of the ſame arm: That after this he ſet his foot upon her ſtomach, and cut her right arm round about and to the bone, both on the wriſt and above the elbow; That he then thought ſhe would not die, and therefore took the hook, and cut her left ham to the bone; and obſerving ſhe was not dead yet, ſtruck her about three times on the head with the hook broadways, and then found ſhe was dead. His next care was to conceal the murder; for this purpoſe he filled a pail with water at a ditch, and waſhed the blood off the child's body; buried it in the dung-hill, together with the blood that was ſpilt upon the ground, and made the dung hill as ſmooth as he could; afterwards he waſhed the knife and hook and carried them into the houſe, waſhed the blood off his own cloaths, hid the child's cloaths, in an old chamber, and then came down and got his breakfaſt. When he was examined he ſhewed very little concern, and ſtill appears eaſy and chearful.——

(Judge Hale order'd a boy of the ſame age to be hang'd, who burnt a child in a cradle.)

We have an account from Barbuda, that on friday laſt a large French ſhip, bound to Marſeilles, was loſt on the Spit, to the Northward of the Sand Banks. Her cargo, which conſiſts of ſugar, cotton, indigo, &c. 'tis ſaid, will be chiefly ſaved.

Auguſt 12. On ſaturday laſt arrived here from Martineco, capt. Jeffery, in the Fawkener packet, into which place he had been carried in, having been taken by a privateer ſloop of 10 carriage and 20 ſwivel guns, Antonio Diſcor, commander, on the 14th of July, two days after the ceſſation took place, notwithſtanding which, they plundered him of every thing they cou'd come at; but on his arriving at Martineco the owners of the privateer were obliged to make reſtitution for every thing that had been loſt. He was taken ten leagues to the Eaſtward of Barbados, and directly after he had ſtruck, hove the mail over-board, according to his orders. On tueſday he ſailed from this for Monſerrat, St. Kitts &c.
